HIGHLAND HIGH SCHOOL

Alma Mater

There shines upon this nation a school mighty fair,
Its loyal sons and daughters carry its banner everywhere.
Highland, Highland, the pride of them all,
Oh Highland, Highland, we will ever heed thy call.

When sun and stars shine brighter on this fair earth so true,
Their rays will point with glee to Highland's lovely gold and blue.
Highland, Highland, the pride of them all,
Oh Highland, Highland, we will ever heed thy call.

We had it all!

Foreword

Historians, and students of history alike, speak of history repeating itself, and cite the recurrence of events with much authority. The recorded word is not "the sped arrow", shot in the great somewhere to n'er return; it is time's barometer by which men chart the paths to the stars, assay the impetus of today's footprints on the sands of time, and make, to a lesser degree, their moves on the chessboard of life.

For twenty years, our predecessors here at Highland have sought to keep aglow this picture of our past, by recording the events of the present, and their work has not been in vain. We, like they, in publishing this, the twenty-first edition of the RAM, feel that the history of the year 1960-61 will serve to guide those who are to follow, to ever be a reminder of this period of change, and to bring many moments of pleasure to those who lived it. If these ends are met, then the many collective hours of hard work that went into the preparation of this volume will have been profitably invested.

We sincerely hope that this will be the best issue in a long uninterrupted series of ever-improving annual publications, and we are certain that it is the largest.

Dedication

Dedication

This book is dedicated to the memory of my father, Mr. [Name], who passed away on [Date]. He was a man of great integrity and a devoted family man. His wisdom and guidance have been a constant source of inspiration for me. I hope this book will help others find the same inspiration and guidance that I have found in his life.

With love and affection,

History

If three months can make a big difference, it really did for the one-hundred and eight eager freshmen, who had shed their mantles of eight years of elementary tutoring and were, on this day September 4, 1957, launching a new career - high school. The task of keeping records, calling rolls, issuing report cards and advising the group was assigned to Mr. G. N. Brooks, Mrs. G. E. Carter, and Mr. H. D. Patterson. Scholarship was the class forte with Kathynel Blair and Brenda Sadler the leaders of the clan. Doris Crank, Brenda Sadler, and James Darby were acclaimed class heads. In extra-curricular activities plaudits went to Jonah Ervin and Henry Montgomery in athletics, Mary Darby and Dorothy Williams as Miss Highland attendants, and to Betty McClure as maid of honor to Miss Homecoming.

One year later as sophomores and minus twelve of the starting number, Mrs. V. J. Leake, Mr. R. O. Mason, and Mr. J. R. Robinson became shepherds of the flock. Doris Crank retained her responsibility as president and was joined by Christine Gary and Billy Lowery. New honors came and the following names were recorded: Neil Guthrie, Floyd Massey, Carvin Boyd, James Miller, Plato Smith, Bobby Guthrie, and Betty McClure in sports; Virginia Sanders and Christine Gary as cheerleaders, and Yvonne Craine, Zora Hoffman, Mary Alexander, and Kathynel Blair as ladies-in-waiting for the queens.

September 2, 1959, marked the mid-point of our secondary school journey, and with only ninety-one enrolled in the homerooms of Mr. F. E. Parker, Mr. C. L. Smith, and Miss M. L. Ormond, we set out to make this our best year. Doris Crank's popularity continued as she was voted to serve as president for the third term. Eva Ledbetter and Shirley Fairfax were elected presidents of their respective divisions. New frontiers were breached and pioneers for the class academically were Kathynel Blair, Eva Ledbetter, Betty McClure, Tyson Pasour, Brenda Sadler, Christine Gary, Virginia Sanders, and Christine Young. Lorene Wilson, Essie Wilson, and Benjamin Robbins joined the athletic line with Betty McClure replacing Virginia Sanders as cheerleader. Christine Young posed in the yearbook as class queen, while Mary Darby, Zora Hoffman, Mary Smith, Elouise Huett, and Carrion Parker shone less brightly as attendants to Miss Highland and Miss Homecoming.

Our senior year brought many changes - the return of Mr. Blair to the Highland family; a new Miss Highland, Christine Young; Leonard Nixon, Mayor of the Student Council; Kathynel Blair, Miss Homecoming; Lorene Wilson, French Club President; Doris Crank, NHA head, and Herbert Eichelberger, NHS prexy. Kathynel Blair received the appointment to editorship of the Tattler, with Eva Ledbetter as her first associate. Johnny Clinton and James Graham were acclaimed athletically as newcomers with the Wilson girls, Essie and Lorene, being added to the cheering squad. Doris Crank was, like the great FDR, elected to a fourth term as president, attesting not only to her popularity, but to her leadership as well. At the same time, Christine Young was president for the other senior section. Academically, Brenda Sadler and Betty McClure were tops and won the titles of Valedictorian and Salutatorian, respectively.

The class gift is a brick marker erected on the northwest corner of Doffin Lane at Morris Street, heralding the entrance to the school campus. Class motto: "Pense a bien", and class colors: white and green, and the class flower is the white carnation.

Ambitions

We, the members of the Senior Class, following a recent custom, believe that it will be interesting to review this page five years hence, and even more enlightening in 1971 to compare the actual stations we hold in life with the serious intentions we have listed below. Thus, in the Spring of 1961 we have hereon recorded our sincere and unfeigned ambitions.

Kathynel Blair, editor of the Tattler, and Eva Mae Ledbetter, associate editor, discuss layouts for a current edition.

To assure a personal flavor in his regular sports column, Leonard Nixon, sports editor, interviews Coach J. N. Robinson, mentor of the basketball Rams.

The decision of the best picture for a story is made by Mr. G. W. Miller, Tattler advisor, and editor Blair.

The office is their beat, and reporters Dorothy Grier and Robbie Grier, here seen with Miss H. D. Bankhead, School Secretary, keep ahead of the news.

Regular payments are made by classes to circulation managers. Ellie Barnett, junior student, pays Arlene Porter, as Herbert Eichelberger looks on with interest.

Clerical advisor, Miss M. L. Ormond, directs all typing for the Tattler.

John Groves, Jr., Assistant sports editor, checks a scheduling with Mr. E. L. Dunn, Athletic Director.

Tattler 1960-61

Mr. G. W. Miller, Tattler Advisor, views some exchanges posted in the room.

Rated about tops on the typewriter, Lorene Wilson, Carrie Lowery and Mary Gordon, typists, turn out clean copy.

Principal T. Jeffers gets interviewed by reporter Bessie Johnson, as reporter Shirley Hoyle looks on.

Business is business, and Carvin Boyd, Tattler business manager, keeps accurate records on Tyson Pasour, Luther Johnson and James Gregory, assistant business managers.

The Day by Day box furnished much information for feature writers Rose McKnight and Yvonne Craine.

Copy writers at work. . . Brenda Jackson and Carol Hawshaw transcribe copy prior to sending it to the typists.

Editor Kathynel Blair keeps busy from one issue to another.

Evening Adult School

The Highland Evening Adult School was established during the school year 1949-50 after many requests by interested adults who wished to continue their education. Therefore in the early part of 1950 the first students, about 65 of them, were admitted to classes covering all grades from 1 to 12. These students studied under the direction of Mrs. Daisie H. Adams, Mrs. Ruth J. Benson, Miss Myrtle Pryor, and under Rev. Oscar Graham, who also served as first director of the Evening Adult School.

The school has always attempted to meet the needs of the people of the community, therefore, among its graduates are several ministers, business men, laborers, housewives, and one who later enrolled in junior college.

Over the years a dedicated group of teachers have served the educational needs of the students. Their salary has been very small, but their great interest in the service they were rendering transcended any thought of financial gain. The present teachers, who can be seen standing in the left background of the picture below, are Miss Maxine Ormond, Mrs. Mildred Sadler, Director, and Mrs. Marie Hall Jones. They have continued to devote time and energy to the program and have made contributions far beyond that ordinarily expected of them.

With the beginning of the school year 1961-62 a new era will begin for the Evening Adult School. An effort then will be made to co-ordinate its work with that of the Industrial Education Center here. More courses will probably be offered, thus giving additional opportunities for self improvement of the students.
